Hello Flyrodders, and welcome to September!!!!

Where we have milder weather and cooler water temps!! So September is a busy month for us, starting with our Beaverkill trip on the 6th which Im sure is going to be another stellar trip!!! Next up we have the NYS Womens Fly Fishing Expo at the Conny on Sept 14. This is a wonderful fun event, but I could use a few more volunteers to man our table.

This is a great oppurtunity for us to recruit more women into the Club!! And I could use a few more "Guides". Please, if you can, see me at the meeting to sign up. You don't have to be an expert just bring your enthusiasm for fly fishing to them and be a cheerleader!!

Next day, Sept 15, is our Club Picnic and if anything like Bill ran last year it will be outstanding !!! The best fun you can have for just $5!! See Bill Draghi at the meeting to pay!! Next Sept 16 Club Day @ the Conny!!

Sept 22 is our annual Casting For Recovery Event this is a very rewarding experience, if interested please see AnnMarie or Rich Cosgrove.

Next, we have the much anticipated LIFR Annual Awards Dinner @ Dominicos, September 24. This is set to be a great evening!! And lastly, a new event we will be involved with is Cold Spring Harbor Hatchery Fall Festival on Sept 28. Again, I ask anyone who would like to help out by spending 30-60 minutes sitting at our table to give Shawn and myself a break. It would be very much appreciated! I'm also hoping to get a Saltwater Clup trip in before the end of the month.

So until we meet on the water, remember to keep your lines tight and those hooks sharp and only give those fish a sore lip!!

“Hats”

by Shawn Sullivan

Fisherman can be particular about what type and style of hat they'll wear. They can range from beanies to wide brims. Some are for practical reasons, and some are to make a statement. If you want to see a fisherman or fisherwoman lose it, start messing around with their hat.

I never wore a hat as a kid. I wasn't on any team, I lasted a week on track, I was more of what they called a “stoner”. By the time I was a teenager, I had long hair in the style of the rock bands I admired. If I wore a hat, my head would resemble an upside-down mushroom when I took it off. I realized the value of a hat when I was asked to join a pick-up softball game and assigned to the outfield. I heard the crack of a bat, realized the ball was coming my way, looked up with my light blue eyes, and could not see a thing until the ball landed on my head. So ended my softball career.

Now, I always wear a hat. My skin crisps like bacon. My dermatologist visibly shudders when I walk into his office. What can I say, I love being outdoors, and I hate sunscreen with passion, although I use it every day. I wish there was a pill I could take that would give me protection from the sun. I would even get a needle once a year like a flu shot. I told my dermatologist that putting sunscreen on every day might turn out to be just as bad as sun exposure. When the article came out that too much sunscreen could lead to other types of cancers, I was so happy to be proved right that I brought it with me to my next dermatologist visit. He didn't comment but I did notice he was using the “freeze spray” more than usual.

As a teacher, I could always tell what a student was going to be like by how they wore their hats. If the hat was tilted to one side, like a beret, that student would be sitting on his desk, chatting away. If he wore it sideways, that would be the class clown. The student who wore his hat backwards would usually be the sports minded one who was generally respectful but didn't believe in homework. I told them once, how in some parts of Africa, people would wear their hats backwards with eyes painted on them to ward off predators who liked to attack from behind. That usually resulted in a blank stare.

Fishing hats can also serve practical purposes besides sun protection. I like to wear hats with a camouflage design because I believe it makes me less obvious to fish that I'm trying to sneak up on. I also like to have the underside of the lid be a dark color to make it easier to see when it's bright and sunny. I tried to wear broad brimmed hats that have a rim that goes completely around but I couldn't help feeling that I looked like Gilligan, and the fish were laughing at me. I also tried wearing a buff with my hat. I imitated the look I saw in the fishing magazines and wore it covering my face and neck and pulled up over the top of my head. I couldn't decide if I looked more like a bag-lady or a misguided hold-up man. I thought about getting one of those hats that has a brim in front and back, like Sherlock Holmes, but I decided nobody would be able to tell if I was coming or going.

My hat has come in handy in other ways. When I first started fly fishing in saltwater, and I didn't know enough not to cast with the wind blowing towards my casting side, my hat softened the blow of a heavily weighted Clouser bouncing off my skull. When I've had a lousy day on the water, and I don't feel like talking about it, I can pull my brim way down and pretend not to see or hear anyone. My hat always arrives a few inches before the rest of me, which is helpful when walking through thick brush or a forest in the dark. If you remember anything at all from this article, the most important thing to remember is, Don't Touch My Hat!

Attn:Flyrodders: A Message from John Langan

Hey Folks, the reservations for next year's LIFR Farmington trip have been made for the weekend starting May 29, 2025. In addition to that trip, several Flyrodders have shown interest in a self-serve camping meet-up on the weekend starting Thursday, June 19, 2025. For the avoidance of any doubt, this is not a club trip, there is no trip leader, there is no food provided and no extra reservations are being made. It is, as said, a meet up. The reservations for that weekend can be made starting at 9 am on Friday, July 19, 2024 (11 months to the day before arrival). If you wish to join in, you need to do the following:

1.Go to ReserveAmerica.com <https://www.reserveamerica.com/> If you do not have an account, you'll need to create one (it's free)

2.Select "American Legion SF (Hawes) CT. You can find it by searching on Hawes

3.Select a site and make a reservation, Unless you have a favorite spot, try to pick one on the North side-sites 18 and higher, so we are near each other. Check the map on the website to avoid being on the road, etc;

After you make the reservation, please email John Langan

at JohnLangan@optonline.net, just so we have an idea who will be there, create a group chat, etc;

January Fly Tying Night Proposal from Bill Smith

Bill has an idea he would like us to consider for our annual fly tying night in January. He sent it in the body of an email so I will paste it below.

Members can tie their own patterns as in the previous Fly Tying Night and/or participate in the instructional sessions. 3 or 4 members will volunteer to lead participants in tutorials. Each instructor will demonstrate a specific fly. In the interest of simplicity I would suggest that all demonstrated flies should use the same hook (in this case a size 8 3xl nymph/streamer hook). The demonstrations will be shown on the screen using the clubs projector. I do a similar demonstration weekly at the Northport VA Hospital and have all of the necessary equipment and wiring.

> Due to the wide range of member abilities (beginner to intermediate to expert) the demonstrated flies should be simple yet interesting- Sullyø, Black Nosed Dace, Cypert Minnow, Shenks Minnow, Woods Special, etc.

> Once the patterns to be demonstrated are determined by the instructors kits can be put together and sold to participants. I have the club materials at my house. I also have funds that were collected years ago during fly tying sessions that I can use to purchase any additional hooks and materials. Each kit will contain 6-8 hooks (2 hooks per fly) plus all materials. $10 per kit - any left over kits can be sold at the end of the night or at future meetings for $5. I would recommend opening this session to non-members as a recruiting opportunity. Please contact me with any questions or suggestions.

Thanks for reading it. See you later, Shawn
